

Finance Staff Non-Procure Support Roles

What roles do other staff play in the procurement process and what is their superhero second identity?

Duchess of Dollars, Callie Dehaven

Role/Skill: Callie is one of our check cutting and p-card transaction processing experts who ensures our vendors are paid for the products and services they provide.

Kryptonite: Has a weakness for lab retrievers and will convince you that you need one! Hired a part-time office lab to make appearances.

Lady Ledger, Ceecret Allen

Role/Skill: Have a change in coding following payment? Ceecret is our journal entry extraordinaire and is the go to for new P-cards and Wex cards.

Kryptonite: Bringing her chocolate and mentioning Florida may lead your journal entry to number one on the agenda!

The Crunch Guardian, Tammy Heide

Role/Skill: As the leader of our Accounting Team, Tammy has many cross-functional responsibilities that ultimately support the procurement process.

Kryptonite: Her secret connection to free Sun Chips has found a universe black hole and is no longer available. To cheer her up from missing these freebees, bring her any type of Lays chips!

The Project Whisperer, Emily Nickell

Role/Skill: Have a new CPO/GPO-related project? Emily's our expert in administering your project in Oracle so POs can be linked to budget in the Projects App.

Kryptonite: Mention pickleball, horses, or a good TV show and your request will be completed in no time!

Finance Staff Non-Procure Support Roles

The Hat Trick Heroine, Krystal Powel

Role/Skill: As our Director, final approver, pre-auditor, and much more, Krystal carries many hats. She's an expert in all aspects with the hats somehow not falling off her head.

Kryptonite: A good non-Starbucks coffee, a creative coffee mug, or a frozen shipped Chicago pizza may lead you to first in the help line!

The Timeweaver, Hannah Stansel

Role/Skill: Hannah is our go-to expert for adding a vendor to Oracle. You may think she foreknew your request before you sent it with her quick response time.

Kryptonite: Mention tennis, pickle lemonade, or Moon Pies For her time-traveler powers to activate!

The Learning Luminary, Stephanie Sweeney

Role/Skill: As our newest check and p-card transaction expert, Stephanie has a knack for learning quickly and applying that knowledge to her Accounts Payable field.

Kryptonite: Enjoys comedic conversation. Make her laugh and your check will be out the door before you know it!

For everything else procurement, frisbee-fetch Logan. Let him know how he can get bleach white cartoon teeth!

